

ABSTRACT

Irma Grdzelidze

Head of Quality Assurance Service, Associate Professor, PhD

Akaki Tsereteli State University, Georgia

Internalisation Of Higher Education, Challenges And Perspectives

The article deals with internalisation of higher education namely the challenges and the perspectives Higher education Institutions of Georgia face.

Globalisation requires from higher education institutions improvement of quality of higher education and competitive graduate with market oriented knowledge and skills. National education differs a lot from international one. In the article the similarities and differences between the systems are being considered in compliance with national accreditation standards.

The article is mainly dealing with the concrete strategy of internalisation of higher education namely internalisation of educational study programs.

Student mobility; staff mobility; exchange study programs and the components; innovative forms and methods of teaching; assessment forms and criteria; international experience gained via the process is being discussed on the example of Akaki Tsereteli State University with the correspondent data analysed.